The Fabric of Liberty: Practising Difference

Abstract: In this paper Piergiorgio Donatelli's book La vita umana in prima persona (2012) is discussed and confronted with what I take to be among the best results of feminist viewpoint on ethics. I'll sustain that Donatelli's fine analysis offers a larger framework useful to convey many feminist contents, even though, as it will be argued in few final remarks, some differences are still there.

Keywords: Ethics, Liberty, Subjectivity, Relationships.
