Beyond the Italian Law on Medically Assisted Reproduction: Border Issues

Abstract: The paper considers three issues raised by the new reproductive technologies that, being border issues, are not discussed by Carlo Flamigni and Maurizio Mori in their book. The first issue concerns the public financing of medically assisted reproduction; the second one concerns surrogate motherhood, and the third one concerns the role of the market in providing access to gametes and to services of surrogate motherhood.

Keywords: Medically assisted reproduction, Public financing of medically assisted reproduction, Surrogate motherhood, Market and medically assisted reproduction.
