Debating the Italian Research Quality Assessment in the Legal Area: Some Remarks

Abstract: These comments deal critically with some key points and parameters that are part of the scheme of the “Italian Research Assessment Exercise” 2011-2014 in the area of legal research. Furthermore the Author approaches a crucial argument in the current scientific debate: the object of the legal research nowadays, and its purpose highlighting how a common agreement on these issues in the legal area can help define criteria more suitable for the legal research quality assessment.

Keywords: Research quality assessment, Legal research, Peer review, Internationalization.
