

Le discipline economiche a cavallo fra scienze dure e aree umanistiche

DANIELE CHECCHI

Economics Between Hard Sciences and Humanities

Abstract: In this paper we argue that economic research has recently followed a pattern of globalization and increased competition, which made economics more likely to hard sciences. The risks of this transition can be traced into mainstreaming, pressure to publish independently of the relevance of contents and exacerbated co-authorship.

Keywords: Pattern of publications, Economics, Science.

notizie di POLITEIA, XXXII, 123, 2016. ISSN 1128-2401 pp. 61-69