Introduction

Abstract: The Authors of the Forum aim at investigating the relationship between gender issues and scientific research. Here, scientific research has to be understood both in a broad sense and with particular reference to Darwinian evolutionism and the life sciences. More precisely, two related questions are addressed: (1) whether a feminist and empirically well-grounded inquiry on gender issues is feasible; and (2) whether scientific research could be improved by dealing with gender issues.

Keywords: Darwinism; Feminism; Gender Issues; Ethics; Epistemology.
