The Future We Have and the Reasons why it Depends on that of Future Individuals

Abstract: Ferdinando Menga, in his volume entitled Etica intergenerazionale, proposes a philosophy of otherness as a basis for a new approach to the debate on long-term issues, including the debate on future generations. In the article I bring some arguments to suggest a different theoretical strategy that pivots on ontological enquiry.

Keywords: Future generations, Presentism, Otherness, Ontology.
