What with Future Generations “We Can no(longer) Power”. Discussing Intergenerational Justice with my Critics

Abstract: In replying to the critics who have discussed my book Etica intergenerazionale (2021), I hark back to the main conceptual thrust of my investigation, thereby advocating a theory and practice of intergenerational justice, which explicitly attempts to avoid “presentism” and takes the form of an answering to the claims of the future. For powerless these may be, they are nevertheless invocations which are able to make themselves heard in the very fabric of collectives and institutions of the present.

Keywords: Intergenerational justice, Futurity, Presentism, Responsivity, Power(lessness).
