

The Challenge of Interpretivism in Legal Theory

MARIA CRISTINA REDONDO

Abstract: This article offers some comments on the book Interpretivism and the Limits of Law, edited by T. Gizbert-Studnicki, F. Poggi, and I. Skoczeń. First, it proposes a general reflection on the challenges posed by interpretivism in legal theory. Second, it focuses on the last four chapters of the compilation, which are devoted to a discussion of the semantics and meta-semantics of legal content.

Keywords: Interpretivism, Legal positivism methodology, Semantics of legal contents, Symbolic functions, Internal point of view, Expressivism, Institutional entities.
