

Domenica Di Donato

Sustainability Planning, Reporting and Professional Community manager, eni

With a graduation in psychology and a post graduate in psychoanalysis, she is married and has two daughters.

In 1987 she joined eni/R&M Division human resources Department where she worked in different areas of activities such as Managerial Development, Recruitment, training with growing competencies and responsibilities. In 2001 she moved in eni Corporate Human Resources management Department.

Since 2006 she is part of eni sustainability function where she is in charge of the sustainability planning and reporting processes. During these last years she contributed to the development of the company sustainability model and to its integration into core business processes.

In this period she also promoted the analysis and activities related to emerging sustainability issues such as Ecosystem Services and Business and Human Rights, coordinating specific crosscutting working group.