

Michael A. Santoro

Professor of Management and Global Business, Rutgers Business School

Michael A. Santoro is a world-renowned business ethics teacher, scholar and consultant. He is currently a Professor of Management and Global Business at Rutgers Business School. He holds a Ph.D. in Public Policy from Harvard University, a J.D. from New York University, and an A.B. from Oberlin College. He was a Fulbright Fellow at the University of Hong Kong.

Professor Santoro a member of the Editorial Boards of Business Ethics Quarterly and the Journal of Human Rights. He is a member of the Board of Directors for the National Association of State Boards of Accountancy (NASBA) Center for the Public Trust.

He has been a visiting Professor at the University of Zurich and an Adjunct Lecturer and a Teaching Fellow at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government. As a Research Associate at Harvard Business School, he wrote or co-authored nearly thirty case studies and teaching notes on ethical and legal topics, including a leading case on intellectual property and the WTO. He was the recipient of research grant from the Aspen Institute's Initiative for Social Innovation through Business and he has also served as a GE Teaching Fellow at Rutgers Business School. Prof. Santoro and Rutgers PhD student Ronald J. Strauss received the 'Best Paper in Ethics Award' at the American Accounting Association.

Professor Santoro testified before the United States Senate Finance Committee on the human rights implications of China's entry into the World Trade Organization. He is a frequent featured speaker on human rights and business ethics at numerous venues, including Cornell, Columbia, Oberlin, Princeton, Redlands, Santa Clara, Pomona, and Tufts, as well as at the Brookings Institution, the World Affairs Council, the Economic Strategy Institute, the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Asia Society, and the American Bar Association Conference on Professionalism in the 21st Century. Prof. Santoro travels frequently to Asia. He has taught executive MBA courses in Business Strategy for China Petroleum & Chemical Corporation (Sinopec) in Beijing and Business Law in Beijing and Shanghai.

Prior to entering academe, Santoro practiced law. During law school he was a clerk at Skadden Arps Slate Meagher & Flom. He was summer associate at Shearman & Sterling and an associate at Webster & Sheffield. He has been the General Counsel of BioTechnica

International in Cambridge, Massachusetts, one of the first publicly held biotechnology companies, and of Finevest (now Interlaken Capital) in Greenwich, Connecticut, a privately held venture firm.

Recent publications:

- M.A. Santoro, Profits and Principles: Global Capitalism and Human Rights in China, Cornell University Press, 2000.
- M.A. Santoro, T. Gorrie (eds.), Ethics and the Pharmaceutical Industry, Cambridge University Press, 2005.
- M. A. Santoro, China 2020: How Western Business Can - and Should - Influence Social and Political Change, Cornell University Press, 2009.
- M.A. Santoro, R. J. Strauss, Wall Street Values: Business Ethics and the Global Financial Crisis, Cambridge University Press, 2012 (forthcoming).